

P4 Morphological Operations Experiment

Group: Bet Baradají, Jens Lagemann

The value for binary thresholding was determined by iteratively testing different values, until all objects were properly recognized.

The limits for classifying the objects based on contour perimeter, were determined by reviewing the values. This could also be done more generally using for example k-clustering, for k=3 classes.

Flowchart:

